

Super Bowl 50 Safety Tips

With hundreds of thousands of visitors expected downtown the week/s leading up to Super Bowl Sunday and street closures in effect until February 12th, getting around the area might pose a challenge. Due to all the street closures and anticipated heavy congestion, it is advised that commuters avoid driving and instead walk, bike, or take public/alternative transit. We have included some Pedestrian Safety tips to help get you navigate safely during the Super Bowl City and NFL Experience events.

Walking Around Super Bowl City and NFL Experience

- NFL Experience- the north sidewalk of Howard Street between 3rd and 4th will be open to pedestrians.
- Super Bowl City- pedestrians looking to cross Market near Main Street may bypass the security perimeter using the BART/Muni station entrances. Pedestrians could also walk around the security perimeter.
- Ferry Building- pedestrians can walk on Washington Street or Mission Street to get to and from the Ferry Building.

Pedestrian Safety Tips

- Be alert, especially at intersections.
- Minimize the use of mobile phones and music players.
- Look twice into oncoming traffic before using the crosswalk, walking with the traffic signal.
- Make eye contact with drivers before you cross paths.
- When sidewalks are not available, walk on the left-hand edge of the road facing traffic.
- Look out for signs and traffic control officers around Super Bowl City and NFL Experience which will direct you to Pedestrian detours.
