Salesforce Transit Center Temporarily Closed

September 26, 2018 – as of 4:45 AM

425 Mission Street between Second and Beale Streets

SF Gate, Chronicle, local media outlets and SFMTA are confirming the temporary closure of Salesforce Transit Center. This closure is expected to disrupt commute patterns for transit riders and drivers. An added complication is the Salesforce Dreamforce Convention that began yesterday in Moscone Center. TMASF Connects will be coordinating information with local agencies and updating members as soon as information is verified.

Essential Information

As of this writing, there is no expected time for the re-opening of the Salesforce Transit Center. Please check with www.sfmta.com, www.511.org and www.tmasfconnects.org for updates, street and service changes and other advisories. This is a fluid situation that impacts transit and street travel.

Motorists are being asked to refrain from driving downtown if possible. Consult with local media and transportation information sites before beginning your trip. Working from home and staggering required trips are options to help navigate during the closure.

The former temporary terminal has been reactivated and buses are being re-routed back to that location. Access to and from the area has been altered and re-routed temporarily.

Please continue to read for information that has been shared with us by SFMTA and other local authorities. We will be sending links and information to help members plan their commute trips and navigate the area. We wish you a safe trip.
